Week 4 - Trinity term 2015

Student News is emailed to you fortnightly during term from Week 0 and contains key information, including deadlines, reminders and events from the central University. Further information is available from the Oxford Students website.

Conduct after examinations

The examinations season is an important time for all candidates and examinations are likely to be ongoing after you have finished your own. To be fair to those students still in examinations, you are asked to observe the instructions of University staff and follow the Code of Conduct on Behaviour after Examinations. To read the Proctors' instructions on the conduct expected after examinations, visit the Oxford Students website.

Intensive academic writing course in June

The Language Centre will be offering a one-week, 15-hour intensive course 'Academic Writing: Key Issues in Academic Writing' for non-native speakers of English from 22-26 June 2015 (Week 9). Topics covered during the course will include: linking ideas, information order, tenses, hedging and the use of personal and impersonal forms. For more information or to book your place on the course, email the Language Centre.

The University's academic poster and colour printing service will be moving from IT Services on Wednesday 27 May 2015 to the Reprographics Office based at University Offices, Wellington Square from Friday 29 May 2015. For details of the services offered, including business card printing and binding, visit the Oxford Students website.

Scholarships for the Internal Medicine summer school

Oxford medical students are invited to apply for a scholarship to attend an Internal Medicine summer school. The scholarships, on offer from Novo Nordisk and the Faculty of Health and Medical Sciences at the University of Copenhagen, are being offered to fund place at International Summer School in Internal Medicine from 27 July to 14 August 2015. Worth DKK 12,000 (approximately £1,200) for one month the scholarships will cover travel expenses, housing and living expenses, while Novo will also cover the tuition fee. If you would like to apply, contact Katherine Benson at the International Strategy Office before Monday 25 May 2015.

Six-week India academic programme scholarship

Interested in learning more about India and Indian politics and society? A place has become available on an intensive six-week academic programme aimed at promoting international goodwill and cultural understanding among tomorrow's leaders as they learn about India and its role in the twenty-first century. The Oxford-CEP Scholarship, supported by the Centre for Escalation of Peace, will cover the programme fees (though you will need to cover your own airfare and insurance). Find out more on the International Summer School New Delhi website, or email admissions@issnewdelhi.in. Applications close on Sunday 24 May 2015.

We are the target! Information security awareness

---

Every year, one million emails are blocked by IT Services. Even so, some undesirables still get through to our mailboxes. Do you know how to spot if you're falling victim to a phishing email? To help you there is the online Information Security Awareness module.

Oxford recognised for the promotion of women in academia

---

Four University departments have been granted Athena SWAN awards in recognition of their efforts to help promote and advance the careers of women in academia. All the University's science and medicine departments now hold awards, while departments from the Arts, Humanities, Social Sciences, Business and Law can apply for awards from November 2015. For more information, visit the Equality Challenge Unit website.

Oxford thinking reaches £2billion
