University Composition Fees 2006-07

Visiting and Recognised Students

University composition fees for Recognised and Visiting students are banded according to subject of study. The fee banding corresponds to that used for overseas tuition fees, and the fee rate is half the rate applicable for new full-time overseas students.

For Visiting students reading subjects corresponding to those of a full-time undergraduate on an Oxford degree programme, the University composition fee is half the annual overseas tuition fee applicable to new undergraduate students on the equivalent full-time degree programme.

For Recognised and Visiting students reading a subject that does not correspond to an Oxford degree programme, the University composition fee is at the annual rate for the student's subject area, as set out in the table below. In the case of a student studying across subject areas, the higher band applies, unless the higher band subject clearly forms the minority component.
