

ASTROPHORIA FOUNDATION YEAR

Careers Service Building, 56 Banbury Road, Oxford, OX2 6PA

If you require an accessible version of the document, please contact Foundation Year Admissions by email (foundationyear@admin.ox.ac.uk).

Astrophoria Foundation Year – Classical Archaeology and Ancient History with Foundation Year Course Information Sheet

The Astrophoria Foundation Year is free for students and is designed to be a one-year intensive academic course which will bridge any gaps between school and our academically challenging undergraduate courses.

The programme is carefully designed to build and develop your study skills, subject knowledge and academic confidence. Students that pass the course will be awarded a nationally recognised Certificate in Higher Education (CertHE) qualification.

If you pass the course at the required level, you will be automatically admitted into Oxford as an undergraduate student if you wish to be, without the need to re-apply.

Students who have applied for Classical Archaeology and Ancient History with Foundation Year at the University of Oxford take part in the Foundation Year Humanities course. Students who pass their foundation year at the required level then progress onto the undergraduate course in Classical Archaeology and Ancient History. For more information about the undergraduate part of your course please see the appropriate course information sheet.

The Foundation Year Humanities course begins with an introduction to the Humanities which will allow you to explore the similarities and differences between the Humanities subjects before moving to more subject specific study. It will also give you an understanding of what it means to study your subject at undergraduate level. Alongside your subject you will also have the option to take either one language course or one maths course.

Alongside your academic subject programme, you will take the Preparation for Undergraduate Studies course. This will help you develop the core skills that will enable you to thrive on a course at undergraduate level, whether at Oxford or another university.

These modules will provide support in building general academic skills including:

- Academic writing
- Communication skills to support verbal discussion
- Broader personal development through a society and culture course and academic mentoring

Please note this Course Information Sheet refers only to the Foundation Year section of your course, for more information about the undergraduate section of your course please see the appropriate course information sheet.

Typical week

During your foundation year you will be expected to attend around five hours of classes per week, participate in regular meetings with tutors to discuss work, carry out independent research and you are likely to write at least one essay every two weeks.

Your time will be spent both on academic work for your Humanities programme and work related to the Preparation for Undergraduate Studies course.

In each term there will be options for you to choose which will lead to your degree pathway. In your final term you will complete an extended project on a subject related topic of your choice, deepening your subject interest and building your skills in independent study.

Tutorials are usually for around two students and a tutor. Classes are slightly bigger, and class sizes may vary depending on the modules that you choose. There are likely to be around four students in a class, however when the whole Humanities cohort is together, this may include up to 18 students. Lectures are a larger format again, and are likely to be delivered to the foundation year cohort (up to 50 students) as a whole.

Most tutorials, classes, and lectures are delivered by staff who are tutors in their subject. Some teaching may also be delivered by postgraduate students.

To find out more about how Oxford's teaching year is structured, visit our Academic Year page.

Foundation Year course structure

Term 1

Courses	Assessment
Three courses are taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Foundations in Humanities 1: Fame</li> <li>• Preparation for Undergraduate Studies (including General Academic Skills, Communication Skills, Society and Culture)</li> <li>• Either a Language or Mathematics</li> </ul>	Coursework: Four essays

Term 2

Courses	Assessment
Four courses are taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Foundations in Humanities 2: Economic Inequality</li> <li>• Methods in classics: approaches to Greek theatre</li> <li>• Preparation for Undergraduate Studies (including general academic skills, communication skills, society and culture)</li> <li>• Either a Language or Mathematics</li> </ul>	Assessment will vary but is likely to include:  Examination: Written papers  Coursework: Portfolio of submitted essays, presentations, commentaries on text or images

Term 3

Courses	Assessment
Four courses are taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Subject specific options (choice of around 20)</li><li>• Extended Project</li><li>• Preparation for Undergraduate Studies (including general academic skills, communication skills, society and culture)</li><li>• Either a Language or Mathematics</li></ul>	Assessment will vary but is likely to include:  Examination: Written papers  Coursework: Extended Project of 5,000 words

Fees

Astrophoria Foundation Year students do not have any course fees to pay during your Foundation Year in 2023/24 as these will be covered through the University.

If you continue to study at Oxford by progressing to a degree course you will need to pay the course fees. Visit your course pages or the fees and funding webpages for more information about undergraduate fees and funding.

The bursary will mean that you do not need to take out student finance for the Foundation Year, but if you do continue to an undergraduate degree course you may need to apply for student finance.

Living costs

As part of the Astrophoria Foundation Year programme your college will provide you with term-time accommodation free of charge. You will also receive a non-repayable bursary of at least £5,000 in 2023/24 towards your other living costs.

If you continue to study at Oxford by progressing to a degree course you will need to cover your living costs, most UK students will do this by taking out student loans. Visit your course pages or the fees and funding webpages for more information about undergraduate fees and funding.

The bursary will mean that you do not need to take out student finance for the Foundation Year, but if you do continue to an undergraduate degree course we will support you to apply for student finance.

Living costs for the academic year starting in 2023 are estimated to be between £575 and £980 for each month you are in Oxford. Our academic year is made up of three eight-week terms, so you would not usually need to be in Oxford for much more than six months of the year but may wish to budget over a nine-month period to ensure you also have sufficient funds during the holidays to meet essential costs.

Living costs breakdown

	Per month		Total for 9 months
	Lower range	Upper range	Lower range	Upper range
Accommodation (including utilities)	Provided free of charge for the foundation year.
Food	£300	£470	£2,700 <sup>1</sup>	£4,230
Personal items	£180	£305	£1,620	£2,745
Social activities	£40	£90	£360	£810
Study costs	£35	£80	£315	£720
Other	£20	£35	£180	£315
Total	£575	£980	£5,175	£8,820

Additional fees and charges

There are no compulsory costs as part of the Foundation Year Humanities course. Visit the course page for Classical Archaeology and Ancient History to see more details about any fees and charges related to the undergraduate course.

---

<sup>1</sup> Please note, this figure is likely to be lower for Foundation Year students as some of your food is likely to be covered in your accommodation, which is paid for by the programme.