LMH is like a second home to me. It is full of some of the most welcoming and lovely people that I have ever met. The tutors are really supportive and want to help you to achieve your potential. LMH gardens are also gorgeous especially in the sunshine!

Ellie, Law Student

LMH is a warm, happy place - from the moment you walk in, there are palpable good vibes. It is a place for anyone, of any background to flourish and grow alongside other people who are passionate about learning!

Paradis, Music Student

Number of undergraduates: 425

Location:

Located next door to University Parks and the river with beautiful and expansive gardens for students to enjoy. You can still reach the heart of the city on foot, or of course by bike.

Accommodation:

In a typical year, there are around 390 single study bedrooms available for undergraduates, just over 180 of which are en-suite. These are located in a range of different buildings from some of the first at LMH, built at the turn of the 20th century, to the more recent Pipe Partridge buildings opened in 2010. The study bedrooms themselves have a range of styles. Next year undergraduate freshers will pay £5133 for a standard agreement for 3 x 9 week terms (with no extra charges for utility costs or full ethernet/wifi access).

Information about catering:

3 sittings in the main hall throughout the day: 8am-10am; 12pm-2pm & 5.30pm-7.30pm. We have daily vegetarian and plant based options available. A lot of the meat we buy is Halal, we label this on the menu when it is available. We cannot cater for very strict Kosher diets as we do not segregate the ingredients in our kitchens or use equipment solely for individual food types. Formal Halls are every Friday 7pm-9pm. Other formal dinners do run throughout term time, these tend to be academic, invite only dinners. We have also run a yearly Iftar event and a World at LMH event in previous years. Average meal cost for each meal: Breakfast/brunch: £5-£7; Lunch & Dinner: £6-£8; Formal Halls: £12-15 for LMH members & £17-£20 for guests.

College societies:

LMH has many of its own societies which students can join alongside the University societies which are available. These include - Badminton, Boat Club, Cheese Society, Christian Union, Cricket, Croquet, Feminist Society, Football, German Society, History Society, Hockey, Law Society, Table Tennis and Garden Appreciation Society, Music Society, Netball, The Oxford Wildlife Photography and Film-making Society, Pool, Riversports club, Rugby, Tennis, The Daisy Circle, Yoga, Zumba.

Other College facilities:

LMH has its own Library on-site, which is home to over 75,000 books. We have a gym, rowing shed, boathouse, punts, hockey field and tennis courts. We have our own 150 seat Simpkins Lee Theatre, which is available for students to use, as well as several rooms with pianos for playing music in. LMH has its own Chapel and Prayer Room on site. The Oxford Study Skills Centre is also based at LMH which provides varied support to students during their studies. We have rental bikes available and lots of room for storing bikes.
