Industrial action suspended

Industrial action that was due to take place in Trinity term has now been suspended. The University and College Union (UCU) voted to strike in Hilary term as part of a national response to proposals to change the benefit structure of the USS pension scheme. However, on Friday 13 April, the UCU voted to support the creation of a Joint Expert Panel, and industrial action was immediately suspended. If you have any concerns about the impact of disruption to teaching that took place during Hilary term, please see the industrial action page on the Oxford Students website.

Academic Life

Exam support and advice

If you're worried about upcoming exams and need some support, the revision and assessments page of the Oxford Students website includes advice on coping with anxiety and insomnia during exams. The website also hosts a range of podcasts focused on exam preparation and revision. A number of mock examinations, orientation and preparation sessions are also available to sign up to, for further guidance.

Bodleian iSkills – free workshops in Trinity term

The Bodleian Libraries continue with its range of free workshops in Trinity term, including sessions on finding relevant material for your research, managing research data, reference management tools, measuring research impact, Open Access Publishing, and more. In Trinity term, the series also offers workshops for History undergraduates researching for their final year dissertation. To view the full programme, visit the LibGuides website. Workshops are free but booking is required. For weekly updates and reminders of upcoming workshops, email usedred@bodleian.ox.ac.uk with 'Add to mailing list' in the subject field.

Careers & Entrepreneurship

Skoll Venture Awards

If you have started a social venture and you're at an early-stage of inception, you could be in with a chance of being awarded a grant of up to £20,000. The Skoll Venture Awards is a grant funding initiative open to Oxford University students. Previous winners of the grant include Accomable, I-Drop Water, and BioCarbon Engineering – three successful ventures that have made the press in recent years. Some of the available offers include a Gaming Development Internship with AI Gaming in Oxfordshire, an Education Consultancy Internship with Beijing FG Academy in China, or a Food Retail and Gin Distillery Internship with Singapore Myanmar Investco Ltd in Myanmar. You may apply for an unlimited number of internships with a Monday 30 April deadline. For help with your application, please see the handy guidance document.

Volunteering

Take initiative and tackle local issues

Oxford Hub is recruiting small teams of students to launch new social enterprise projects in Oxford this term. They'll provide the idea and support, and you can bring the skills and energy to take it forward. Find out more and get involved.

Oxford Life

Seven amazing collections – all yours to discover for free

Did you know that students enjoy free admission to the University's gardens, libraries and museums? Explore the 'cool' in early 20th-century American art at the Ashmolean this term, from early experiments in abstraction by Georgia O'Keeffe, to the clean precisionist paintings of Charles Demuth. Learn about the dynamic story of Britain's ever-changing population in the Settlers exhibition at the Museum of Natural History, from the arrival of the earliest modern humans to the population of the present day. Drop into the Weston Library to find out about the women who dared to do the unexpected, from pirates to poets and suffragettes to explorers. Then relax in the tranquil oasis of Britain's oldest botanic garden, located just off the High Street opposite Magdalen. Simply show your University Card to enjoy free admission.

Visit Mindgrowing.org to learn more about the University's seven amazing collections and find out what events are taking place this month. You can also sign up to the termly newsletter by emailing glam.communications@ox.ac.uk.

Learn a new language with the Language Centre

Do you want to learn a new language but don't know where to start? The Language Centre is offering Modern Foreign Language 'New Beginner Courses', from Monday 23 April. Courses being offered at beginner level include French, Spanish, Italian, Mandarin Chinese and Japanese. Apply online or visit the Language Centre website for timetables and information.

Trials and Research

Are you a first-year student? Spare 15 minutes and help future applicants

First-year students have been sent a survey asking about their experience and how they prepared for their admissions tests. Please complete the survey, as results will help to develop more effective support for future applicants. If you have any questions about the project please contact jenny.lenkeit@education.ox.ac.uk

This publication is sent using a mail client, which is approved for use at the University; in line with its data privacy and information security policies. For further information, see the Oxford Students website.
