UNDERGRADUATE - WEEK 2

Boost your CV and join the Student Advisory Group

The application deadline to join the central University Student Advisory Group has been extended to 3pm on Friday 10 May. As a member of the group you will gain consultation experience as part of a specially selected cohort of students who will become the main point of contact for University student feedback. As well as providing real-time feedback on proposed or implemented process changes within the University and Oxford SU, you will also influence campaigns, events, and more, while meeting regularly with other students. Meetings will take place once a term from around 6pm – with drinks and pizzas provided. Simply fill out the online application form to apply. The group is a joint initiative by the University and Oxford SU, and the first meeting will take place on Tuesday 23 May.

Academic Life

Get support with your exams

Are you currently preparing for exams? As part of Stress Less there are several events taking place across the University to help you with preparation and revision. Attend one of the exam orientation sessions to find out more about exam regulations and what to expect on the day. If you want to take part in a mock exam, the mock exam sessions involve sitting a three-hour invigilated exam at the Examination Schools or Ewert House. If you experience anxiety, there is also a one-hour session being held this week, aimed at developing techniques for dealing with exam-related anxiety, and helping students understand what causes panic attacks. Welfare and Support

Student Wellbeing and Mental Health Strategy – Student Consultations

The University is writing a Student Wellbeing and Mental Health Strategy and we want to hear your views. Each session will cover our draft strategy and implementation plan, and there will be a chance for you to brainstorm ideas and tell us what is most important to you about student wellbeing and mental health. The session for undergraduate students will take place at 12.30pm on Wednesday 14 May at St Edmund Hall, in Doctorow 1 and 2 . Free sandwiches will be provided. Register to attend online. If you are a JCR welfare rep, we will be holding another consultation just for you. If you can't make these dates but would like to contribute to the strategy, you can do so online – keep an eye out for a link in your e-mails.

Trashing: What a Waste

We understand you want to celebrate after your final exams, but please consider the social, environmental and personal impacts of trashing. In recent years trashing has resulted in students and residents being admitted to hospital. It is disruptive for local residents, and wasting food also reinforces negative stereotypes about Oxford students. In addition, non-biodegradable goods are harmful to animal life, while paint damages clothes and the environment. Please be considerate when it comes your post-exam celebrations.
