

Course Information Sheet for entry in 2016-17

PGDip in Applied Theology

About the course

The Postgraduate Diploma (PGDip) in Applied Theology is designed to enable theological reflection upon experience in pastoral practice mainly, but not only, in the context of ministry in the Church. It may be taken if you hold a pastoral appointment at present, or if you are able to include a period of approved pastoral experience in your course of study for the MTh in Applied Theology.

The Postgraduate Diploma in Applied Theology is one year of taught study when full-time students must be resident in Oxford and part-time students must attend classes in Oxford once a week.

You will take four units in total, each assessed by extended essay. The two core units are:

Doctrine, Context and Practice

Experiential Project with Theological Reflection.

You will choose two further units from the following options:

Sociology of Religion

Pastoral Psychology

Science and Faith in the Modern World

The use of the Bible

Christian Spirituality

Liturgy and Worship

Christian Ethics

Mission in the Modern World

Inter-faith Dialogue

Ecclesiology in an Ecumenical Context

Changes to courses

The University will seek to deliver each course in accordance with the descriptions set out above. However, there may be situations in which it is desirable or necessary for the University to make changes in course provision, either before or after registration. For further information, please see the University's Terms and Conditions.

Expected length of course

12 months (full time) or 2 years (part time)

Additional cost information

Full-time study

There are no compulsory elements of this course that entail additional costs beyond fees and living costs. However, as part of your course requirements, you may need to choose a dissertation, a project or a thesis topic. Please note that, depending on your choice of topic and the research required to complete it, you may incur additional expenses, such as travel expenses, research expenses, and field trips. You will need to meet these additional costs, although you may be able to apply for small grants from your department and/or college to help you cover some of these expenses.

Part-time study

Please note that this course requires that you attend in Oxford for teaching, and you may incur additional travel and accommodation expenses for this. Further, as part of your course requirements, you may need to choose a dissertation, a project or a thesis topic. Depending on your choice of topic and the research required to complete it, you may incur additional expenses, such as travel expenses, research expenses, and field trips. You will need to meet these additional costs, although you may be able to apply for small grants from your department and/or college to help you cover some of these expenses.

Living costs

The likely living costs for 2016-17 are published below. These costs are based on a single, full-time graduate student, with no dependants, living in Oxford. We provide the cost per month so you can multiply up by the number of months you expect to live in Oxford.

The fees shown above are the annual fees for this course for entry in the 2016-17 academic year; for courses lasting longer than one year, please be aware that these fees will increase annually.

Information about how much fees and other costs may increase is set out in the University's Terms and Conditions.

	Likely living costs for 1 month		Likely living costs for 9 months		Likely living costs for 12 months
