

Course Information Sheet for entry in 2016-17

PGDip in Strategy and Innovation

About the course

The Oxford Diploma in Strategy and Innovation is a master's-level qualification designed to enhance your ability to take effective strategic decisions in today's dynamic business environment, and to innovate for competitive advantage.

Designed for senior managers, this intellectually rich programme will extend your knowledge and broaden your skill base, with a focus on practical application.

The programme will be offered on a part-time basis and comprise four modules, and a business project. Each module will be multi-subject, presenting elements from some or all of the following modules:

- Strategy
- Innovation Strategy
- Globalisation and Strategy
- Strategy in Action

The programme is based on four taught modules of four days each in the areas of strategy, innovation and entrepreneurship, international business and strategy execution. The modular programme structure allows you to study alongside employment and complete a prestigious University of Oxford graduate-level qualification in one year.

The Diploma in Strategy and Innovation offers:

- a graduate-level qualification from the University of Oxford which builds on your existing professional development and experience;
- the highest standards of academic rigour with a practical approach to developing strategic thinking and execution, entrepreneurship, and innovation in a global environment;
- access to top-level teaching from world-leading experts, drawing on the University of Oxford's strengths in strategy, innovation and entrepreneurship;
- membership of a unique network of peers and practitioners from around the globe; and
- lifelong association with the university through the business school, university networks and college membership - and a pathway to the Oxford Executive MBA.

The Diploma in Strategy and Innovation adopts an assessment regime that requires participants to take four courses and satisfy the examiners in the assessment associated with each core course. You will also submit a project not exceeding 10,000 words, and satisfy the examiners in the assessment associated with the project. Assessment will be a combination of written examinations, and individual assignments.

Additional cost information

Please note that this course requires that you attend in Oxford for teaching, and you may incur additional travel and accommodation expenses for this. Further, as part of your course requirements, you may need to choose a dissertation, a project or a thesis topic. Depending on your choice of topic and the research required to complete it, you may incur additional expenses, such as travel expenses, research expenses, and field trips. You will need to meet these additional costs, although you may be able to apply for small grants from your department and/or college to help you cover some of these expenses.

Living costs

In addition to your fees, you will need to ensure that you have adequate funds to support your living costs for the duration of your course.

The likely living costs for 2016-17 are published below. These costs are based on a single, full-time graduate student, with no dependants, living in Oxford. We provide the cost per month so you can multiply up by the number of months you expect to live in Oxford.
