Hi I'm Charlie and welcome to St Catz.	Student Charlie standing infront of an accommodation block, a modern building with large square glass windows.
Hi my name is Liam, I'm a DPhil student in geography and the environment here at St Catherine's. We're one of the largest colleges in Oxford, we've got just over 500 undergraduates and 360 graduates at the college.	Student Liam standing infront of an accommodation block, a modern building with large square glass windows, with trees and a lawn area.
	Liam and Charlie walking down a path infront of a brick and glass accommodation block.
	A sign reading 'The Ainsworth Graduate Centre' engraved into stone, embedded in a brick wall, next to a circular glass building.
	A view of the graduate centre, a circular building made from black and copper coloured metal and glass.
	Liam and Charlie walking up a concrete staircase.
So this is the MCR,	Inside the MCR common room, a circular wood panelled room with glass on one 'wall', numerous sofas, bunting, and a small kitchen area.
the MCR is, um, the common room, um, in college, but it's also the graduate student body as well as other mature students, and also the committee of people that run, um, events within college such as pizza nights, film nights, garden parties, etc, and social activities for everyone	Charlie in the MCR.
in the graduate body to come and enjoy.	Another view of the MCR, with numerous sofas, and windows looking out over a balcony area with seating.
The graduate community at St Catz is quite large,	Charlie in the MCR.
lots of our graduates live on-site in college.	A view of an accommodation block, a modern brick building with large square glass windows.
	Charlie and Liam walking down a road in college, with brick and black metal buildings to either side.

Inside the Dining Hall, a large brick and concrete room, with grey floor, 5 long wooden tables with lamps, wooden chairs, and with high table at the back of the room, another wooden table with three patterned tapestries hanging on the wall.

Looking into the kitchen and servery.
A brick and glass building, with a path running through a lawn area with various shrubs and plants.
Looking over Old Quad, a circular lawn with brick, concrete and glass buildings on all sides, with a student walking across the quad.
Charlie in Old Quad.
Another view over Old Quad, a glass, brick and concrete building framed in the shot by another concrete building's overhang and supports.
Looking down a path running alongside a building, covered by the buildings concrete overhang, with trees and shrubs in an area to the left of the path.
Charlie in Old Quad.
Another view over Old Quad, a glass, brick and concrete building in the distance behind a circular lawn with a large tree to one side, and another building covered in ivy.
Looking up at the corner of the library building, with grey weathered metal and numerous long slim windows on one side.

We're very fortunate in St Catherine's to have	A wide view of the library from across Old Quad, with lawn and tree in the foreground, and the metal, brick and concrete library building behind.
one of the largest libraries of any of the colleges in Oxford.	Liam standing outside the library.
It's a really good space for studying	Inside the library, with wooden bookcases and brown tables and chairs on the ground floor, and a circular staircase leading to the first floor running alongside one side, with more bookcases.
and alongside the library	A view from the first floor which runs around the edge of the library, looking down to the bookcases and desks on the ground floor.
we also have two computer rooms	Looking across the library's first floor to the other side of the building, with large windows, wooden bookcases, and large concrete beams on the ceiling.
which are accessible 24/7,	Liam standing outside the library.
um, so it's really good in terms of accessing resources,	Inside the library, with large concrete pillar, hanging ceiling lights and a bookcase along the wall.
but also there are some spaces you can book out	Inside the library, with a row of wooden desks to the left, and bookcases running along the right hand brick wall.
in order to work on group projects together.	Liam standing outside the library.
	Looking out a window in the library to another concrete, glass and metal building, with a tree.

	Running machines in the gym.
This is the college gym, um, it's a facility that's open 24 hours a day, um, for all students in college, and totally free during the time you're at Catz.	Charlie in the gym.
Um, we have areas for cardio upstairs	A wide view of the gym with running and cycling machines.
and downstairs we have weights rooms,	The weights room in the gym, with various machines and weights.
as well as two squash courts that are available for use for playing squash,	One of the squash courts, a large white room with red markings and wooden floor.

table tennis as well as classes that are put on in college. We also have lots of sports teams in college that are available for both undergraduates and graduates to play together.
